AMONG the many cherished possessions of our College life, none holds a more lofty position than the Annual—it is a permanent record of our collegiate days. Acquaintances, old friends, Stoic corridors, all these come into remembrance as we turn the pages of the HA (IIs)—CA (mpus)—WA (Iks). That this might be true has been the aim of the staff.

Realizing that our College has been instrumental in sending forth many capable men and women into the world, we have taken as our theme the spirit of Lenoir Rhyne as exemplified in her colors of maroon and black, her activities, and as evidenced in the caliber of her graduates. Each major division of the book is dedicated to some representative alumnus who, by worthy accomplishment in their particular fields, merit recognition in upholding the traditions and standards of the College. We have done this with the hope that it may inspire us to take our work seriously and make it profitable, so that our Alma Mater will be proud to own us along with these.

Thus we present the twenty-sixth volume of THE HACAWA, hoping that you will file through its pages understandingly and that it will be accepted with the best wishes of the staff.

LEO AREY

A.B. English

DANVILLE, VIRGINIA

Honor Roll, 1, 2, 3, 4; Associate Editor Lenoir Rhynnan, 2.

Amidst the smoke-rings of Leo's room there seems to emanate the spirit of Plato, Aristotle, Hume, Kant, Hegel or in fact any student of deeper thought. Even though he's known as "Einstein," Leo seems to have some mysterious power over the fairer sex. His wide scope of knowledge and his seriousness as a student seem to hold much in store for him.

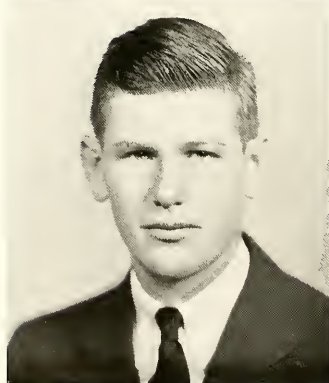

MARY FRANCES BAGBY

HICKORY, N. C.

Literary Society, 2, 3, 4; German Club, 1, 2; Vice-President Class, 3; Student Assistant in History, 4; Honor Roll, 1, 2, 3, 4.

Mary Frances is a faithful worker, conscientious, and careful of details. But she doesn't take life too seriously, and has a perfect weakness for red-headed men. Look out, Mary Frances! Success is bound to come to her, and we predict her a first-rate teacher.

ZEB BARNHARDT

Zeb gets it from all sides trying to keep it quiet, so the boys can study in Highland Hall at night, yet he commands the respect and confidence of everyone. He's ambitious as they get and willing to work, which should mean a lot to him in his career.

ERWIN BEAVER

A.B. Pre-Theological

GASTONIA, N. C.

Mt. Pleasant, 1, 2; Newberry, 3.

If anyone is up to foolishness, Erwin is likely to be present. Even though this is his first year with us, yet he has become one of the number in every respect. There is seriousness under his frivolity and he can apply himself when he desires.

Ruth has made a splendid record during her four years at Lenoir Rhyne. She is very much interested in basketball and is quite capable. Having taken an active part in all college functions, she will be missed by everyone. But she is sure to have even greater success in her chosen work.

Senior Class History

As the gangplank was lowered, we the class of '35, filed eagerly aboard the ship which was to take us on a round the world cruise of Knowledge. Little we knew of the wonderful friends and experiences we would encounter and cherish in our memories all the rest of our lives. At first we were all somewhat frightened—a few of us a little homesick, others a little seasick—but after several weeks the ocean became calmer, and with this our confidence returned. We organized our group, electing Mr. Luther Stirewalt as our leader. Timidly we looked on the activities of the other passengers—the upper classmen—but soon we were drawn into the spirit of shipboard life. We were now a part of it. We “belonged.”

When we docked in the first port, some of our party decided to stay ashore. Thus, when the ship left the harbor in the fall of '32, our crowd was somewhat smaller. However, many new passengers—the Freshmen—had come aboard, and as we were now (or so we thought) experienced seamen, headed by our new leader, Mr. Robert Rhyne, we took delight in showing these newcomers “the ropes.” As the program for this second leg of our voyage was Leadership, each of us strove to be outstanding in his particular field, whether it be music, oratory, debating, athletics or journalism. Many met with success.

Still headed by Mr. Robert Rhyne, we embarked for the third part of our trip. Everyone was happy, for this was to be the jolliest year of all. Never had the sea been so smooth nor the breeze so gay. This year we Juniors were leaders, and near its close we reached the apex in our social life when we gave the Junior-Senior Banquet, which was followed by a dance, for the older passengers who would leave the ship at the next port. This was a big event and brought our happiest year to its climax.

In the autumn of '34, as we boarded the ship for the last time, there hovered above us a cloud of sadness. We were now a serious and dignified group, and under the capable leadership of Mr. Nevette Carpenter we determined to make this last year our best in scholastic achievements as well as athletic records.

The home port draws near, but it is not destined that our voyaging is to end here. As the gangplank is lowered and we go ashore, we begin the greatest journey of all—that of Life. As we bid goodbye to our many friends and start our separate ways through life, we shall carry with us many fond memories and, above all, the high ideals instilled in us by the Captain and Crew—our President and Professors.

History

On September 11, 1934, the class of '38 entered Lenoir Rhyne College as Freshmen. Yes, very green indeed, and oh, so humble! However the newcomers were cordially welcomed at various receptions tendered by both faculty and student body. Taking spirit because of these friendly overtures, we gradually assumed our respective places in the campus routine.

As yet we have had no real opportunities to show our different talents, but we have assumed, in and around the College, responsibilities which have made our presence valuable on the campus. An active part has been taken in various activities, religious organizations, athletics and contests. A high standard of scholarship has also been maintained due to meritorious achievement.

Nevertheless, we realize that we have made but a small beginning. And now, building on the small but firm foundation, we as Freshmen, hope to continue our efforts to bring greater glory and honor to our school—our Lenoir Rhyne.

The Iota Epsilon Omega is an honorary journalistic fraternity which has as its object the advancement of journalism on the Lenoir Rhyne campus. To this end it fosters a feeling of friendship and co-operation between the staffs of the several publications on the campus. The fraternity also affords recognition to all those who have been members of the staffs of the college publications by making them eligible for membership after having completed a certain prescribed amount of work.

At times during the year visits are made to nearby places which are of interest to the members of Iota Epsilon Omega from the standpoint of journalism. These trips prove interesting and beneficial to everyone.

The Lenoir Rhynean is the weekly publication of Lenoir Rhyne College. The members of the staff are elected by the student body, which has had complete control of the paper since 1931. This year the staff has tried to the best of their ability to carry out the motto, "For A Greater Lenoir Rhyne." The staff has worked under difficulties for the past year because of the lack of support and co-operation from the members of the student body.

It is hoped that the students at the college will soon realize the importance of a college newspaper and try to support the paper better in the future. The Lenoir Rhynean is a permanent record of the activities of the college and serves as a record for future reference. The motto signifies the purpose and aim of the paper and it is something that not only the members of the staff should try to attain but it should be the aim of all loyal students of Lenoir Rhyne to support and coöperate with the members of the staff in order that the carrying out of the purpose of the Lenoir Rhynean will be facilitated.

The forensic season of 1933-1934 was one of the most successful ones in the history of Lenoir Rhyne College both from the standpoint of participation and victories.

The debates for both men and women were on the question: "Resolved, that the powers of the President of the United States should be substantially increased as a settled policy." For the women, Janet Earhart and Ruth Bisanar upheld the affirmative, while Meta Stirewalt and Juanita Sink defended the negative. The men's teams consisted of Julian Holmes and Dent Summers, affirmative, with J. W. Cobb and Dwight Conrad as alternates, and Woodrow DeLawter and George Chapman, negative. Altogether the teams engaged in three non-decision and 29 decision debates, of which they won 17, some of them against much larger schools.

The women's teams opened the season February 27 with a dual debate against Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. While the affirmative won handsomely, the negative lost by a close vote. On March 2 the men's affirmative team won over Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone, the debate at Hickory being cancelled on account of sickness of the opponents. Both men and women entered the Tri-State Forensic Tournament at Greensboro, March 8, 9 and 10. The women's debate teams won the championship in the women's division, winning five and losing two debates. The affirmative won over Western Carolina Teachers College and Catawba, but lost to Emory and Henry, while the negative defeated Catawba, Emory and Henry, and Western Carolina Teachers College, bowing only to Maryville College of Tennessee. The men split even, winning six and losing six debates. The affirmative won over High Point, Atlantic Christian, and Emory and Henry, but lost to Roanoke, Guilford, and State. The negative won over Guilford, Emory and Henry, and Catawba, bowing to the College of Charleston, State, and Wake Forest. Altogether the Lenoir Rhyne debaters won nine out of ten debates with schools called "The Little Seven." On March 17 both men's teams clashed with Waynesburg (Pa.) College, the affirmative losing by a split decision, but the negative getting a unanimous verdict in their favor.

Upon invitation Lenoir Rhyne College representatives attended the national Pi Kappa Delta Tournament in Lexington, Ky., April 2-6. The debating teams, with Woodrow DeLawter and Dent Summers upholding the affirmative, and Woodrow DeLawter and George Chapman defending the negative, were pitted against some of the strongest forensic colleges of the country, and placed well in the upper third of the tournament. The affirmative won over Bradley College of Illinois, but lost to Colby College from Maine, and Upper Iowa University. The negative won over Ripon College from Wisconsin, and South Dakota State College, the only defeat the team of the National President of Pi Kappa Delta suffered in the preliminary rounds. George Chapman made a fine showing as orator. As Lenoir Rhyne does not maintain a local Pi Kappa Delta chapter, she did not participate in the finals. However, on account of her splendid work, her debaters and orators are admitted to the General Chapter.

In oratory the College also maintained her fine record. On March 8 Mary Lee Leonard won first place in the N. C. Women's Oratorical Contest, and on the following day second place in the N. C. Extemporaneous Contest. On March 9 Julian Holmes represented Lenoir Rhyne in the Men's Oratorical Contest, and Woodrow DeLawter served as after dinner speaker. Then on April 27 McRae Crawford placed first in the State Peace Contest. It was his second state championship, as he had won the State Oratorical Contest the year before. Lenoir Rhyne has the best record in both the Women's Oratorical Contest and the Peace Contest. Crawford's victory was Lenoir Rhyne's fifth in the six oratorical contests during the last two years. To this was added another record when Mary Lee Leonard on December 15 won the Women's Peace Contest of the two Carolinas of the League of Nations Model Assembly sponsored by Winthrop College. Thereby Miss Leonard became the fourth Lenoir Rhyne double champion in oratory during the last five years, which constitutes another record.

The outstanding work of Lenoir Rhyne forensic speakers has won state and national recognition. She is considered a leader in forensic activities, won by hard work and fair dealing. Her forensic coach, Dr. Albert Keiser, has for eight years served as the Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Forensic Association. He is also the Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the N. C. Association of Teachers of Speech, the State Chairman and Executive Secretary of the N. C. Intercollegiate Peace Association, and the Director of the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament.

The purpose of the Alpha Psi Omega is to stimulate interest in dramatic activities, to serve the College and community by securing the advantages and mutual helpfulness provided by a large national honorary fraternity, and to extend membership as a reward and in recognition for worthy efforts of those participating in the activities of playmaking.

The Playbill is the annual publication of the national organization, giving the news and reports of the various chapters. Through this publication and other periodicals the Lenoir Rhyne Playmakers are recognized at over 120 colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Virtue, temperance, patience, humbleness, and godliness as well as obedience are the cardinal principles of the fraternity, which every member is duty bound to uphold. "Seek a Life Useful" is the motto of the Gamma Eta Chapter.

A SCENE FROM "THE LAND OF HEART'S DESIRE"

At Chapel Hill, in the spring of '34, the Playmakers carried off high honors, winning first place in the production of "Thursday Evening," make-up by Edith Huffman, costume book by Betty Gosnold, stage model by Luther Stirewalt, and second award in the costume contest by Ruth Efird, and original play, "East is East," by Alice Deal. The Playmakers took off all honors in the tournament with the exception of one.

The first productions of the Playmakers' ninth year was Booth Tarkington's "Trysting Place," and Zona Gale's "Neighbor's." Both were one-act plays and were produced on the campus.

The fall play was "Death Takes a Holiday," a very difficult play which merited the Playmakers much praise. In February the annual author's reading was held and the best original play selected, with second, third and fourth places. In Hickory, at the Paramount Theatre, on March 22, the four original plays, "The Singing Baron," by William Wolff of Hickory; "Never the Swain Shall Meet," by Virginia Mitchell of Hickory; "The Supreme Smile," by Alice Deal of Salisbury; "The Strange House," by Leon Matlock; and "The Land of Heart's Desire," by W. B. Yates, were presented. The latter is the contest production play.

"The Strange House" was judged the best original play and will receive the Helen Norma Trower award at Commencement. It and the "Land of Heart's Desire" will be presented at the contest in Chapel Hill, March 28-30, 1935.

Luther League

OFFICERS

ERNEST MISENHEIMER ..... President
 DENT SUMMERS ..... Vice-President
 MARY LEE WRIGHT ..... Secretary-Treasurer

The College Luther League is one of Lenoir Rhyne's leading religious organizations. It welcomes all the students on the campus and urges them to take an active part in the League work and in the religious life at Lenoir Rhyne. This organization makes it possible for those students who were active in the young people's religious organizations at home to continue their work along such lines during their stay at Lenoir Rhyne. The League offers its members the opportunity to develop the qualities of leadership, coöperation, and loyalty. It affords excellent opportunities in Christian training. The programs rendered are usually well planned and they are presented in an interesting, entertaining manner. The League attempts to develop in its members the desire to become better Christian workers.

The Luther League sponsors several delightful and enjoyable socials during the year. These gatherings result in the developing of the spirit of friendship and fellowship among the students. They also serve as an inspiration to greater and nobler things.

The College Luther League in its organization is similar to a typical church league. It supports the program of the state Luther League. Pledges are made by the individual members in order that the League can pay its part toward the advancement of the program of the national Luther League. The true aim of the Luther League is to promote good fellowship, to enlist Christian service, and to develop faithful Christian youth on the Lenoir Rhyne campus.

The Young Women's Missionary Society stands among the leading religious organizations on the campus. It is composed of girls who are interested in religious and moral life of others, and is similar to the United Women's Missionary Society. The ultimate purpose of the group is to strengthen the interest in the field of missions, both home and foreign.

The Society holds its meetings regularly on the second Sunday of each month. Special speakers are brought to the campus, and each member is given a chance to lead programs, and to express her ideas and opinions.

Diakonian Club

J. W. COBB	.....	President
WILFORD LYERLY	.....	Vice-President
CLARENCE STASAVICH	.....	Secretary-Treasurer

As its name implies, it is the purpose of the Diakonian Club to interest the young men in service for the Master. The members are chiefly Pre-theological students, but it is not restricted to them alone, for any one who is interested in the work of the Church as layman may belong also.

The meetings are held weekly, at which time the programs vary with devotions along with inspirational talks, both by the members and outside speakers. Several times meetings are held and programs given at the city churches and visits made to the county jail, et cetera. The club is open to visitors at any time and to any one interested in the work.

Chemistry Club

OFFICERS

ZEB BARNHARDT	President
WILLIAM MORETZ	Vice-President
PEGGY RHEINECK	Secretary-Treasurer
DR. S. J. MARION	Faculty Advisor

The Lenoir Rhyne Chemistry Club was organized in the spring of 1932 and since that time has been very active. It has grown in membership and created much interest in practical chemistry. Those taking or who have had two years of chemistry are eligible for membership. The purpose is to more thoroughly acquaint its members with the fields in which chemistry is involved.

Meetings are held regularly every other week in the chemistry classroom, where posters and projects which have been worked out by the members of the club, with the advising of Dr. Marion, are hung about on the walls. Among these are: coal tar, sulphur, cellulose products and other familiar compounds. Visitors are often guests and speak on the relation of chemistry to their profession, such as textile industry, pharmacy, medicine and other important professions.

The social side is not neglected, for the club holds open house programs, the refreshments being prepared in the laboratory. A bazaar was held in the spring of '34 and another for '35 is being looked forward to with much interest. The profits are used in visiting places of interest. All the success that the club has enjoyed is due to the unselfish supervision of Dr. S. J. Marion.

Demosthenian Society

J. W. COBB	President
MARGARET TROUTMAN	Vice-President
THELMA ROLLINS	Secretary-Treasurer
JULIAN HOLMES	Chaplain
MARGARET FISHER	Critic

Whether one chooses Law, Medicine, Ministry, Teaching, or any other field of activity, his success depends largely upon his ability to express himself. It is for such activity that the Demosthenian Literary Society prepares its members. No student's life on a college campus is complete without the cultural development which such a society provides.

The programs of this society are conducted weekly by the student members under the supervision of the faculty representative, Dr. Albert Keiser. At intervals during the year the members have the opportunity to appear before their fellow students and the public.

The organization of the Demosthenian Literary Society dates back to 1928 and since that time it has proved itself an indispensable organization of the campus.

Glee Club

No other group on the campus puts forth greater effort than the Glee Club does in preparation of its annual spring tour of the State. Under the directorship of Dr. Brown those interested in the work are enabled to express themselves in the realm of music.

For several years the Glee Club has prepared a sacred cantata, which, together with secular programs, have been given in the immediate vicinity, and in many cities throughout the State. The standard of the concerts have been upheld this year and the reputation of the Glee Club has continued to grow.

In celebration of its successful year's work the Glee Club of 1934 went on a pleasure trip to Asheville and other places of interest in the mountains near-by. Afterward, everyone agreed that this was sufficient compensation for the year's activity. A similar trip is being looked forward to this year.

Meistersingers

OFFICERS

JAMES COATES ..... President

FREDERICK SCHOTT ..... Secretary-Treasurer

EDWARD BLAIR ..... Publicity Manager

The Meistersingers is a society which is an outgrowth of a desire on the part of the Lenoir Rhyne boys to seek out the finer and better things in music.

Under the guidance of Miss Helen Stahler, a small group of boys met in the early part of October to discuss plans for further development of the group. It was at that meeting that officers were elected and the name "Meistersingers" was adopted.

"Meistersingers" was the name given to the German lyric poets belonging to the artisan and trading classes in the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries. They professed to carry on the traditions of the mediaval Minnesingers, regarding as the founders of their guild twelve of the greater poets of the middle high-German period. They cultivated their art in so-called Meistersinger schools.

ATHLETICS

ALBERT T. SPURLOCK

Spurlock is perhaps one of the best athletes ever turned out in North Carolina. Not only was he one of the greatest collegiate backs of football, and the only member of a small college in the State to rate the official all-state team, but he also won for himself the title of the "Lenoir Rhyne one-man track team." He entered unofficially the track meet between Davidson and South Carolina University and almost won the meet himself by winning first place in four events. Later in a State meet in Raleigh he led individual scoring.

Mr. Spurlock is now a member of the Columbia University football coaching staff.

STASAVICH, Captain

Lenoir Rhyne's football team had a very successful season, having won five, lost four games and tied one. The Bears scored 186 points to their opponents' 58 points.

The opening game was against the Piedmont team, which was defeated by the score of 23-0. Coach Shores used every man in uniform against this team.

Other non-conference games were against Maryville, Erskine, Naval Apprentice School, and Carson-Newman. Maryville defeated the Bears 7-6, Naval Apprentice School was met and Lenoir Rhyne came out on the short end of a 13-7 score. Carson-Newman was next and they defeated the Red and Black 13-12. Then the Bears went on a rampage and defeated Erskine by the lopsided score of 33-0.

In the five Conference games played, three were won, one lost, and one tied. W. C. T. C. was defeated 27-6 without very little trouble. The Guilford Quakers were defeated by the decisive score of 25-6. The Bears ran roughshod over the Eastern Carolina Teachers team to win by the score of 47-0. Elon then defeated a favored Lenoir Rhyne team after a hard fought game in the rain. The score was 13-6. Poovey crashed over in the last few minutes for the only Bear score. The last game of the season was with the ancient rivals—the Catawba Indians. The battle was fought in a field of mud, but was bitterly fought. Neither team was able to cross the other's goal and it ended in a scoreless tie.

Lenoir Rhyne again placed two men on the All-Conference team, as Rex Reynolds and Captain Clarence Stasavich made it for their second year in succession. Padgett, Bumgarner, Mauney, Sanders and Geitner received honorable mention.

Three players are lost by graduation this year. Their loss will be felt in the coming season. They are: Nevette Carpenter, Dave Campbell and Captain Stasavich.

Boys' Basketball, 1934-1935

At the start of the basketball season (1934-35), prospects for winning the Conference were very bright. Six lettermen reported, along with a large group of Freshman material.

Two games were played before the Christmas holidays. Kan- napolis Y. M. C. A. was met and defeated. Then Davidson brought a small alert team to Hickory and defeated the Bears in a close, hard fought game.

The final check showed that the Bears had a successful season, winning nine conference games and losing six, thereby finishing in second place. Four non-conference games were played, with two in the win column and two in the lost column.

Those players earning letters were: Captain Leath, Alternate Captain Deal, Stasavich, Stetler, McSwain, Padgett, Willett, Lanier, Womack, Sigmon and Sanders. Only Stetler and Stasavich are lost by graduation. Padgett is lost as he signed to play professional baseball.

Girls' Basketball

The Lenoir Rhyne girls' basketball team, with a ten-game schedule, batted 500 for the season, winning five and losing five. The two thrilling games of the season were with W. C. T. C. and Young Harris on the home court. Captain Ledbetter and her teammates eked out victories by a one point margin in both games.

Captain Ledbetter played her fourth and last year for the red and black, and was used by Coach Ward at forward and guard.

Anne will long be remembered as one of the outstanding basketball players of this institution.

Only Bisanar will graduate, and with Briles, Morgan, Huitt, Watson, and others that were on the squad, they should carry on next year as the girls' teams in the past have done.

The playing of Misenheimer, Cline, Wright and Hardy was steady and consistent. The accuracy of Hardy in shooting fouls won more than one game.

Baseball, 1934

When Coach Shores issued the call for baseball candidates, he was greeted by five lettermen and a flock of newcomers. The five lettermen returning were: Mills, Jarrett, Newton, Bumgarner and Stetler. With a large number of good prospects in camp, a good season was predicted.

A schedule of 18 games was played. Eleven Conference games were won, six were lost and one non-conference team was defeated. The Bears were nosed out for the Conference crown by Elon, but finished in second place.

MAUD AND ANNIE POWLAS

No distinction could be made between the merit of these two sisters; so we dedicate this division to them jointly. One finds exemplified in Maude and Annie Powlas the philosophy that the highest and truest virtue lies in a useful life, led by one who never shrinks from danger, strife or bitter toil.

The Powlas sisters are both engaged in Educational Mission work in Japan under the auspices of the United Lutheran Church of America.

Jokes

LINGLE: One of the Professors kept me and my girl from making love last night on a campus bench.

COOPER: Really?

LINGLE: Yes, he and a little blonde were occupying it.

DR. FRITZ: If you added seventy-six thousand nine hundred and twenty-three to eighty-one thousand four hundred and twelve, what would you get?

CASTOR: A wrong answer.

MISS ADERHOLDT: Has anyone told you about my forebears?

BEAVER: Gracious, no! Don't tell me you're an animal trainer.

BLACKWELDER: Just what do your duties at the office embrace?

PROF. CREECH: Just the boss.

STRANGER: If you're the gymnast who guarantees to teach fellows to lift twice their own weight, I'll join your class.

STEVE T.: Oh, you're an amateur strong man?

STRANGER: No, I'm a pickpocket.

SHIVES: You know, last year Dr. Keiser told me that if I didn't stop smoking I'd be feeble-minded.

FRESHMAN: Why didn't you stop?

TRULA: The man I marry must be tall and handsome.

C. RITCHIE: Gimme a chance; I'm still growing.

BILL MORGAN: Oh, if I could only go to Paris to study, what wouldn't I draw!

SIMMONS: A sober breath.

Acknowledgments

We look back with amusement as we think of the intricate task that confronted us at first, but, now it is completed. The book is yours. Pursue its pages understandingly, and endeavor to interpret it as we planned.

Whatever merit the 1935 HACAWA may possess can be attributed to no single individual. Many helped. To the student body, to faculty members, to Mr. Everett Bierman of the Charlotte Engraving Co., to Mr. Bill Crichton of the Observer Printing House, and especially to the advertisers we acknowledge our sincere gratitude and appreciation for their interest and support which enabled us to produce the twenty-sixth edition of THE HACAWA.
